More Than 7,000 Are Registered On Final Day At City Precincts

11,576 REPUBLICANS,
1,502 DEMOCRATS

Both Parties Register Gain In Registration Over Preceding Year

Sweeping in with a rush at the last minute New Castle voters changed a light registration into a fairly heavy one Saturday when over 7000 voters qualified themselves to vote on Tuesday, September 19, an average of over 200 for each of the 34 precincts in the city.

The total registration for the city is 13,078, of which 11,576 are Republicans and 1502 Democrats. Both parties showed a gain over the registration of a year ago, the percentage being about the same. The Democratic registration one year ago was 1365, the increase being about ten per cent.

Every precinct on Saturday reported the same story. Voters in line waiting to get registered, with the evening hours a constant flow through the polls. Apparently the lethargy of the past few weeks was shaken off with a rush and the vote

PA NEW OBSERVES

Only 22 detours now exist on Pennsylvania State Highways throughout the entire state, according to the Detour Bulletin issued for the week end September 28. Eight of these are in the western part of the state. The detour between Ellwood City and Pleasant Hill, Route 488, seven miles in length has been removed this week.

One more week of Daylight Savings Time remains, along with the last week of summer. Next Monday, things will run on Eastern Standard Time again.

According to reports from the various registration boards about the city, there was a huge turnout of voters on Saturday for registration, and indications are that a large vote will be cast in the city at the primaries on Tuesday.

While mid-summer weather conditions still prevail, the woods of Lawrence county are beginning to take on a very noticeable appearance of fall, some of the leaves already having turned to some of their fall tints.

Tomorrow the New Castle fair will be opened at the fair grounds on the Hainsburg road. There are scenes of much activity at the grounds today as preparations are being made for the opening day. Everything looks auspicious for a most successful fair season here.

This is the last week of daylight savings time for the present year. Clocks will be changed on Saturday night and eastern standard time will be observed starting next Sunday.

ERIE CONFERENCE WILL MEET HERE NEXT YEAR

Methodists Of District Accept Invitation To Come To New Castle

Epworth M. E. Church Will Be Host; Sessions To Occur In September

Epworth M. E. church will be the host church to the Erie Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1934, the conference accepting the invitation of Epworth unanimously at the Saturday night session held in Meadville, Pa. The invitation was presented by Rev. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of Epworth and seconded by Rev. N. A. White of First M. E. There were no other invitations and Epworth was accepted.

It has been some years since the conference was held in New Castle and it has never been held in Epworth. At a meeting of the Official Board a week ago it was decided to invite the conference here for the 1934 conference. Epworth's new church being admirably located for such a purpose.

The work of handling the conference will be organized sometime within the next few months and it is expected that a Layman's committee will be appointed to look after the details.

The conference will open on September 15 and will last a day longer than the 1933 conference did.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Master codes for retailers and the construction industry, involving upwards of 10,000,000 employees today became the goal of Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, as the bituminous coal went to the White House.

Although the retail and construction codes have been eclipsed by the bitter fight over coal, recovery officials hold them even more important.

France Brings Up Subject Of Armed Germany At Disarmament Discussion

GREAT BRITAIN FALLS IN LINE

Germany Under Hitler Has Cast Off Post-War Shackles And Is Aggressive

By ARNO BOSCH-FLEUROT

PARIS, Sept. 18.—The spectre of New Germany, armed for combat, was invoked by France as preliminary disarmament discussions between this country and Great Britain got under way at the foreign office.

Concessions and departures from long-standing French disarmament policies were promised by Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour at the outset of a formal interview with Captain Anthony Eden of the British foreign office, all with an eye to halting Germany's rearmament by concerted international pressure.

Must Take Steps

Early indications were that Britain would fall in line with France's view that definite and immediate steps must be taken if a new European armament race is to be nipped in the bud.

The object of the discussions launched today was the calling of a

Campaigns For Primary Election Are Being Concluded

BALLOTING WILL OCCUR ON TUESDAY

The tumult and the shouting dies. As a matter of fact they are about dead and the rather serious business of voting is just a few hours away. Beginning at eight o'clock Tuesday morning, Daylight Savings Time, and 7 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, and continuing until eight o'clock p. m., Daylight Savings at 7 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, the voters of New Castle and Lawrence county will go to the polls and register their choice of nominees for the various offices in the county.

With a registration of over 13,000 in the city and about 14,000 in the county, the indications point to a vote of somewhere near 18,000 or 20,000. This does not indicate the total voting strength but past history has shown that in the city where personal registration prevails the percentage of vote is heavier.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 18.—Looks like the days of these "sob sisters" moaning around over anyone on trial is over. Juries have started in giving the deceased or injured party a break.

Looks like my single-handed crusade to keep us out of Cuba hasn't been very successful. Now we got to go in to protect Americans, who would have needed no protection had we had no diplomacy or battleships to get us in wrong in the first place.

We are just getting ready to trade lives for sugar. It would be better if we all learned to drink it black.

Beer Sales On Election Day Are Prohibited

County Treasurer William O. Pitts Says It Is Against Beverage Act

TO ANNOUNCE RULES FOR HANDLING BEER

All licensed places selling beer in Lawrence county must be closed during the primary election tomorrow, according to announcement made this morning by County Treasurer William O. Pitts. This is in accordance to the provisions of the beverage act, and Treasurer Pitts will see that it is rigidly enforced.

For some time past Treasurer Pitts has been engaged in formulating a set of rules which must be observed by all persons holding wholesale or retail licenses. This has been made necessary owing to the fact that there has been considerable misunderstanding regarding the handling of beer, both by wholesale and retail. Immediately after licenses were granted, some of the wholesalers were soliciting orders. They were notified that this could not be done and it is believed that the practice has been stopped.

Rules formulated by Treasurer Pitts will be announced in tomorrow's News.

Bailey, notorious desperado and eleven others, were brought to trial here today by the United States government on the charge of kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel, multimillionaire oil man. It was the first court test of the new "Lindbergh" abduction law.

Officers armed with machine guns and pistols challenged all visitors. Every stranger, including newspapermen, was searched.

The machine gunners commanded the stairways and corridors of the seventh, eighth and ninth floors, and were also stationed at the court room doors.

New Cuban Government Survives Revolt Rumors

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

HAVANA, Sept. 18.—Surviving wild rumors of revolts that failed to materialize and threatened general strikes, President Ramon Grau San Martin's government today entered its third week in power over the destiny of Cuba.

The greatest obstacles facing the administration appeared to be those which have confronted it since birth, the controversy with the ousted army officers at the National hotel and a threat of the association of commercial owners to close their stores in protest against present economic conditions.

These owners conferred with Grau San Martin, but did not discuss a

Ready For Opening Of Fair On Tuesday

Tuesday will be marked not only as the primary election day, but also the opening of the New Castle Fair. During the week-end cattle, hogs and sheep, the horses and mules and chickens have been rolling into the fair grounds, where they have been assigned space. The midway fakirs are arriving, and by tomorrow noon the fair will be ready to function.

To quote an old-time circus man, the fair will be "bigger and better than ever, the capstone of all outdoor entertainment, the crowning achievement in a summer of entertainment" and so, ad infinitum. Speaking the language you and I understand, the fair is going to be a wow.

Plenty Of Action

Action from the beginning of the three-day period until the end is the motto this year. A. C. Shoaf, manager of the fair, has spent months gathering together the best talent available, the fastest horses and the better grade entertainment features. Not only will the fair be operated during the day, but at night also, with boxing bouts featuring the last two nights.

It's your fair, so be there, is one slogan that was adopted a few years ago. It still holds good. It's Lawrence county's fair, the time of year when the farmer and the city man can get together on a common

This was generally taken as indicating public satisfaction with the government, despite political and commercial opposition.

The island was reported tranquil by the army following yesterday's clash in managua, where Major Jose Del Gado, former chief of the National police, was arrested by the army.

old Patton, 432 County Line street, in Jameson Memorial hospital with cut on head and broken collarbone.

Escape Injury.
Fred Alwine, 504 North Cedar street, Beaver Falls, and John Montanari, 732 Court street, who were in the Baxter car, and Harold Baxter and Harold Patton, drivers of the accident cars, escaped with minor injuries.

Police answered a call to the scene of the accident. A crew of the telephone company had to be called out to repair temporarily the damaged pole.

The police learned that Baxter was driving the machine without a learner's permit or a driver's license and took him into custody. According to the reports made at the police station, the drivers of each machine blames the driver of the other with running into their respective machines.

Baxter was driving west on East North street at East street, as Patton, driving the truck of the I. J. Miller Baking company, came north on East street and was making a left turn to go west on North street.

The machines apparently came together in about the center of the crossing. The truck was turned completely around and then upset. The Baxter car struck the telephone pole, breaking it off near the ground and upsetting. Both machines were badly damaged. According to I. J. Miller, owner of the truck, he had no knowledge that the machine belonged to him as it was out when he informed of the wreck.

Riding in the truck were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelley and son Arthur. In the Baxter machine were the driver, Leroy Eckhardt, Fred Alwine and John Montanari.

SPECTRE OF NEW ARMED GERMANY WORRIES EUROPE

special five-power preliminary disarmament conference at Geneva during the next meeting of the league assembly, for the purpose of settling major problems before the world disarmament parley resumes active deliberations.

Five Big Powers

Plans call for France, Britain, Germany and Italy to participate actively with the United States associating itself in some definite manner with negotiations.

In the first few minutes of the interview, Paul-Boncour produced facts and figures gathered by French experts tending to prove that Germany, under the impetus of Hitlerism, has cast off her post-war shackles and is rearming to the extent that the military clauses of the Versailles treaty have already been violated.

France's purpose in making these charges was to prove to Britain that Germany cannot afford to accept international armament control. In demanding arms equality before control is instituted, Paul-Boncour declared, Germany is actually attempting to avoid armament control.

Germany Arming
This means, Paul-Boncour declared, that Germany is already arming. Captain Eden indicated he was willing to accept this argument but countered that the only way to prove Germany's sincerity would be to make a firm offer at the projected five-power conference by which France would commence reduction of her arms to Germany's level the moment international control is instituted.

So anxious is France to prove Germany is re-arming that it is believed she will yield on her previous position of no disarmament for five years until control proves efficient. She will probably accede to the British and American demands and make an immediate gesture by reduction of offensive weapons, but will insist upon rapid creation of a permanent international commission with prompt inspection of present state armaments.

French political circles believe it will be impossible for Germany to accept this challenge, as immediate inspection would prove she is re-arming.

Should Germany refuse, however, it would throw the onus of disarmament breakdown upon the Hitler government.

Davis Goes To Paris
London, Sept. 18.—Disturbed by Prime Minister MacDonald's gloomy view of European disarmament difficulties, Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, left for Paris today to discuss arms control with French officials.

After a two-hour conference with the Prime Minister at 10 Downing Street, Davis rushed to his hotel to pack and make ready for the journey. He had time, however, to tell International News Service:

"There is no disguising the fact the disarmament situation has become tense and the effort to reach an agreement has become more difficult."

Warning Sounded
Berlin, Sept. 18.—Forceful notice that Germany will refuse to submit to disarmament inequality, served in a belligerent speech by Dr. Wilhelm Frick, Reich Minister of Interior, today confronted representatives of France and England in Paris to discuss the arms issue.

Carli, indicating Germany will obtain what she wants from the disarmament conference, soon to convene in Geneva, or abandon it. Dr. Frick told 80,000 German youths and girls at Rudolstadt, Thuringia: "Germany is fed up with being treated as the scapegoat of the world. We decline to continue to play the pariah role."

"If an attempt is made to force us to do so, and so deny us equality, no one can prevent us from withdrawing from international conferences."

MASTER CODES FOR RETAILERS NRA PROGRAM

portant because they extend into every nook and corner of the nation.

A master code for retailers, worked out by deputy administrator A. D. Whiteside, now is on Johnson's desk, with a code embracing more than a score of branches of the construction industry about ready for action.

Price Fixing Problem

In the retail code Johnson faced a decision of the major question of price-fixing—a question which may have to be answered finally by President Roosevelt.

Although Johnson has approved price control features in both the coal and oil codes, he refuses to label them price-fixing. He has indicated he would approve a provision in a retail code forbidding selling below wholesale cost plus ten percent.

Price fixing already has been attacked by the consumers advisory board of which Mrs. Mary Rumsey is chairman. The exact form of retail price control also is the subject of a battle between leading retail interests.

Many other problems vital to the N. R. A. also claimed Johnson's attention as he emerged from the coal code battle.

He plans to swing into the job of reorganizing the entire NRA staff, which has grown to embrace 1,000 workers. The period of transition from negotiation of codes to the job of enforcing and administering them has arrived, according to Johnson.

Local Compliance Boards

By setting up local compliance boards Johnson has paved the way for enforcement by persuasion chiefly, of the temporary blue eagle agreements with the president. He also must be prepared to enforce provisions of the permanent codes.

The problem of Henry Ford, the auto manufacturer, thus was brought closer to the recovery administration. An investigation to determine if Ford is complying with the automobile code is expected to be made within the next two weeks.

Local compliance boards were warned in a letter of instructions from Johnson to extend friendly aid rather than the "iron fist" in seeing that blue eagle requirements are met.

It should be assumed that if the employer is acting within the spirit of the agreement, he will be ready and willing to come forward with a frank statement of his position in order to clear up any misunderstanding," said the letter of instructions.

The local boards have no power to take the blue eagle away, but must make a report to Washington headquarters.

The forthcoming buying drive and control of runaway prices, also were problems claiming Johnson's immediate attention.

competing fields, over production and cut-throat competition among operators.

The way is paved under the code for price and production control. Operators are forbidden to sell for less than a fair market price, which is to be determined by marketing agencies, minimum prices may also be established by code authorities.

Operators and NRA officials disagreed upon the increase in price which will be necessary under the code. While one NRA official estimated that a 50 percent increase must be ordered, some operators declared that prices will be held down because of immense stocks on hand. They insisted the big buyers, railroads and utilities, would bear the brunt of increased prices rather than the home owner.

With the signing of wage agreements between the Appalachian group and the United Mine Workers of America, the vast majority of the industry will be on a union basis.

While the contract does not call for a closed shop, it is declared by NRA officials that the United Mine Workers have a complete hold on the industry at present.

Pressure by President Roosevelt and General Johnson, strikes and revision of the code prepared by Johnson were given as causes for the agreement.

Death Of Horse Leads To Trial

Claimed That Horses' Neck Was Broken While It Was Being Shod At Shop

Somewhat out of the usual run of cases is that against Edward Hofmeister, a blacksmith near the Harbor, which was taken up in county court before Judge R. L. Hildebrand today. Hofmeister is charged with malicious mischief to cattle by Clarence Black.

According to the plaintiff he took a horse to Hofmeister to be shod. The horse was fractious, and it is claimed that Hofmeister struck it over the head with an iron bar, claiming that it fell and broke its neck. Hofmeister denies that he struck the horse with an iron bar, claiming that during its plunging while he was shoeing it, that it fell and broke its neck.

CITIZENS DUTY TO VOTE

TOMORROW, New Castle and Lawrence county voters will nominate party candidates for city and county offices, in the regular fall primaries of all recognized parties.

There are many candidates seeking the nomination for each office, and the choice of the voters is largely one of selecting the best candidate as the party's representative, there being little heard in the campaign, aside from the fitness of the candidates.

Nevertheless, it is the right of every eligible voter to visit the polls and give expression to his sentiment. The primaries are for the purpose of naming the candidate that is the choice of the largest number in that party, and those enrolled within the ranks are expected to exercise their right of selection.

It is further a principle of the party primary that the candidate who does secure the nomination in the primary, is entitled to the support of the members of that party at the general election. Voters who take part in the primary are under a traditional moral obligation to give their support in the general election to those who are victors in the primary.

The candidates who are victors tomorrow have a right to expect united support of the members of their party.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS

Those who believe that we have passed the bottom of the valley of depression and are now on the way up again draw a great deal of consolation from the fact that the apparent recovery from the depression is world wide, and is not therefore confined to our own country. While the stock market has gone up faster in the United States than in England and France due in part to the fact that it went down farther in the beginning, employment and building construction have improved more substantially in Great Britain than in the United States. France, of course, was never so hard hit by the depression as we were.

In view of these comparisons it is interesting to note, too, what is going on in Italy, where the improvement is quite pronounced. The Italians are facing the coming winter with much more confidence than they faced the last one a year ago. Unemployment has been decreased by eleven and a half per cent during the year, up to August 1, which is surely an encouraging performance. Public construction is being pushed and Mussolini's wheat program is meeting with success. In this respect it may be noted that the wheat problem in Italy is entirely different from that of the United States. While we are seeking to decrease our surplus by cutting down production, Italy has been trying to stimulate production to the point where she will not have to import any wheat at all. And the campaign is about 100 per cent successful, and the country almost self sustaining, so far as wheat is concerned. This has increased employment and is a good thing for Italy but not so good for the wheat exporting countries like our own, who are losing a valuable customer.

Railroad travel has increased a great deal during the year in Italy and the number of tourists entering the country has gained 55 per cent. Industrial activity has increased in the basic trades and the Associated Press, in a dispatch from Rome, concludes:

"Hardship was undoubtedly experienced last winter, and hardship will be again experienced this winter, but Italians in general believe the crisis is past and that Mussolini has won his battle against the specter of idleness."

All of which is encouraging news not only to Italians but to the people of other lands. For coupled with the reports we get from other countries it seems to indicate that the depression is on the wane.

OCEAN AIR MAIL SUBSIDY

Colonel Lindbergh has predicted a regular transatlantic air-mail service within two years, but if he is counting heavily on a large subsidy from Washington, which has been generous to a fault in the past, he is in a fair way to find disappointment.

E. R. White, who is in charge of foreign mail, speaks up for the government on this subject. His words indicate a marked change of heart, due no doubt to necessity. A transoceanic air-mail route is a luxury the country cannot afford at this time unless it can be made to pay its own way.

He recalls that the government a few years ago went to far as to advertise for bids for such a service. Today it wishes it were obligated to pay fewer subsidies of this nature. Not that the government is not interested in developing the air mail. It just doesn't have the money.

Perhaps Lindbergh knows this and is working with the understanding that private capital is available to establish the proposed route and maintain it until it becomes self-supporting. There is a demand for a fast air-mail service between New York and London but it is that demand large enough to make such a service profitable? It takes a lot of postage stamps to buy gasoline for a big ocean-going airplane.

NABBING THE FUGITIVE

Fugitives from justice can find little refuge in the United States since the Committee on Uniform Crime Records of the International Associations of Chiefs of Police began its work three years ago, work now being carried on by the bureau of investigation of the United States Department of Justice.

Once he has been caught, "mugged" and fingerprinted the criminal's life is not an easy one. No matter where he may go his crimes will find him out sooner or later. Every move he makes is under the watchful eye of the police, an eye that has been multiplied thousands of times by the modern method of keeping and broadcasting criminal records.

Three years ago the organized police chiefs started out with 399 cooperating law-enforcing agencies and no central rogues' gallery. Today they have the cooperation of 6,066 agencies in 1,546 cities and towns and have on file in a central office 3,870,810 fingerprint records of criminals and suspects.

Fingerprint records made it possible to take 346 fugitives from justice into custody last month and that was no unusual month. Fingerprint records provided the government with leads on 2,363 suspects when the war on kidnapers was declared.

Society is planning to cut the dividends it has been paying to the unsocial ever since man began to seek the society of his fellows.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

A MAN WHO CURSED GOD AND DIED

He'd be an old man now, but he died before I was born. Died horribly in a small boat, drifting at sea in the torturing sun off the Mexican coast. . . . So I never saw him, that uncle of mine, but I think I know him nearly as well as he knew himself.

Because the other day I found the little leather-covered book in which he kept his accounts and set down his thoughts. And sometimes life was sweet upon his lips and sometimes it was rough and bitter. . . . And sometimes he was serene and joyous, and sometimes he hated the world. . . . But I fear that in the last years of his short life he hated more than he loved it. He did not live long enough to purge his heart of the agony that had entered it.

You see, when he was still a young man, hardly more than a boy, he had left his American home and adventured into Guatemala, leaving a beloved girl behind him in an old California town. And after three years of hard work in the Far South, he made a place for her, came home to marry her, and then went back. She followed him, and found him in his bed, sick of yellow fever. She nursed him for days and saved his life. And then, very soon, she became ill of the same disease and while he was still weak she died.

Because the disease was so dreadful and so many were afraid of death, they hurried her to the earth and none of his friends would go to the grave with her body. . . . So, when he wrote in his leather book again, he was a terribly lonely and embittered man. He had prayed that his wife be left him. He had hoped that his friends would not desert him in his tragedy. But his wife was dead and his friends were not what he had thought them. And he wrote in his diary that he would never again have faith in God or man! . . . He wrote little, after that, and in the following year, I think it was, he lost his life—not caring greatly.

I do not know, but I think that if he had lived longer his heart might have softened and the bitterness gone out of him. He might have come to see that men are not as craven as he had thought, that a man must not ask as much of other men as he must ask of himself.

He might have seen, too, that a man has no treaty with his God obliging his duty to lean down and save in response to his personal prayers. Thus seeing deeper into life, he might have grown gentler and wiser and found his years more endurable. . . . I do not know, as I say, but I think it MIGHT have been thus.

You have a dictionary but you never use it.
Don't you associate with people who use words that you have never heard before, perhaps?
Do you just call them "high-hat" and let it go at that?
You think they are trying to show off?

You are very much mistaken. The more limited your vocabulary, the less you get the meaning of those who talk or speak with you. You don't care much about clumsy people, for you are light on your feet.

Some folk have a right to say that you are very clumsy in speech. Very often what you say yourself is not understood, and you are sore. When they say they did not understand you, you reply "take me as I mean, not as I say."

Now isn't that a foolish remark? Why don't you get so you can express what you mean in a way that none can misunderstand?

Some folk like to get out of things by saying, "I didn't understand."
Well then, study the dictionary to get the right word to express just the shade of meaning you intend to convey, and the dictionary will help you.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

AN OLD FOOL

At seventy-five, his wife long dead. He met a woman young and fair And he believed her when she said: "I like a man with silver hair."

Her voice was soft, her laughter gay. She had a certain touch of grace And he was pleased to hear her say: "I like a man with wrinkled face."

For her his purse was opened wide. He bought her gifts of every kind. And he believed her when she cried: "I like a man who's almost blind."

He had to walk with careful tread. But followed as she lured him on And he believed her when she said: "I like a man whose strength is gone."

One glance within his looking-glass You'd think had brought him reason cool. But he believed the flattering lass Until she called him: "Poor old fool!"

Condemned By Public Opinion

Loss Of Lives And Injuries In Crash Between Milk Train
And Fast Express Declared To Have Been Inexcusable

Condemnation of railroads which have not completely eliminated wooden passenger coaches from their equipment is voiced, in view of the fatal accident on the Erie railroad at Binghamton. Fourteen persons who died and others who were injured in the collision between a milk train and the Chicago-New York express are held to have been victims of an inexcusable failure to obtain modern equipment.

After many years of operation during which wooden coaches have been proved death traps in case of wreck, says the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, "it does seem that railroads should have discarded them before now." That paper adds that "steel cars offer the only safeguard in an accident of this sort." The LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL contends that "good operating practice has not permitted hauling such coaches between heavy steel cars."

The ESCANABA (MICH.) DAILY PRESS suggests that "the advantages of modern safety construction were never better illustrated than in this wreck," and concludes that "the wooden passenger car obviously is out of date."

Pointing out that the wrecked car was telescoped by a steel Pullman, the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, while recognizing that "American railroading in recent years has a splendid safety record," makes the comment: "The hazard of the wooden car in a steel passenger train was supposed to have been largely eliminated by modern railroad policy, and the official statement that the wooden car had a steel underframe does not revise the results of its demolition for the hapless people who were killed."

Reporting the wreck seem surprising to the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, in the fact that "the wooden passenger car still lingers upon the scene and still claims its victims." The Daily News continues: "It is apparent that use of the wooden car in this day of steel cars was responsible for much, if not all, the physical harm done to the hapless passengers."

Occasional errors by trainmen and other causes of accidents are bound to persist. Consequently, wooden passenger cars which may be smashed with comparative ease ought to be scrapped. They have outlived their primitive day. Progressive railroad managements should retire the surviving relics of an old crude and perilous age of railroad travel.

"The latest records of the Interstate Commerce Commission," according to the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "show that the road has in service 89 wooden construction passenger coaches, like that in which most of the victims of the Binghamton wreck were riding when the train was struck. The structure of this coach was such as to expose its occupants to death and injury. Had it been of standard steel body the toll of the disaster would not have been nearly so great. The wooden railroad car is supposed to be obsolete. It will be interesting to ascertain how many of these dangerous cars are still in use on other lines. Evidently the only present way of demonstrating the fact of the employment of these death traps is to smash a train and precipitate an inquiry. Wooden car, an advisory automatic train control system and an engineer's blunder! Fourteen dead and nearly a hundred injured! Will there be some effective correction of the conditions of operation that will prevent another terrible lesson in railroadroving?"

"Like a battering ram, the steel coaches were jammed against the wooden car and crushed it to splinters," records the ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS, with the conclusion: "Thus is presented further evidence that wooden cars are death traps in railroad accidents while steel coaches are comparatively safe. Dozens of previous wrecks have told the same story. Yet the Erie railroad, on which the wreck occurred, like many other roads, operates some 100 wooden cars. They belong to the era of the One-Horse Shay. The safety of the traveling public demanded that they be abandoned long ago. Yet thousands of unsuspecting passengers ride in them yearly. Wooden railroad cars should be tolerated no longer than it requires to replace them with steel. Now that the government is pouring millions into relief reconstruction, the opportunity prevails to condemn the wooden cars and put men to work building safe steel cars. There is no longer any place for railroad cars that belong to the early days of railroad transportation."

THE YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR is impressed by the thought that "the accident broke the astonishing record which the railroads of the country have been establishing for safety in operation. During 1932," continues the Vindicator, "only

On December 16, 1924, a check was made out for $7,636.30 by the clerk of the Circuit Court of Wisconsin, to Olga Zeller, as trustee for estate. The check has never been cashed and there is no record of its having been deposited in any bank.

Under the Wisconsin law taxing bank deposits, the county must pay $2 a month to carry this to have the money ready when the check is presented.

No one knows what has become of Olga Zeller or the check. That is a lot of money to wait for an owner these days.

Notables Born This Date—Greta Garbo (real name Gustafson), b. 1905, photoplay actress. Marcus Ullius, called Trajan, b. 56 A. D., list of 4 "adoptive emperors" of Rome (so-called because each was the adopted son of his predecessor).

One of the greatest and noblest group of Roman emperors; according to Gibbon theirs were the happiest reigns in the history of the world. He came to the throne at 42, constructed good roads, bridges, canals & harbors throughout the empire, provided employment for all, prosecuted grafting officials relentlessly, reclaimed waste lands & turned them over to farmers, cultivated the arts, kept the greatest administrative machine working smoothly while he was far from Rome campaigning against enemy powers, was sincere in mourning when he died after a reign of 19 years. Joseph Story, b. 1779, who became an associate justice of the supreme court of the U. S. at 32, achieved renown with his decisions. Hubert Parsons, b. 1872, notable chain-stor executive. Samuel Johnson, b. 1709, an industrious, practical man to seem great by the graces of his biographer, James Boswell, whose Life of Johnson is a classic gallery of portraits of literary Londoners of the 18th century. Johnson, in compiling one of the first dictionaries of the English language, misspelled many words.

History Reveals—On this date, in 1773, Prussia, Austria partitioned the kingdom of Poland among them. The humiliated Poles never allowed themselves to be assimilated, preserved their unity under 3 flags & many rulers, constantly plotted their deliverance, quickly realized their opportunity when the thrones of Russia & Prussia & Austria crashed in 1917-18, emerged once again as a free nation.

On the same date, in 1831, two years ago today, Japan affected the "taming" of China by "virtual control of Manchuria." This move, other blocks torn from her by other nations, brought the total loss of Chinese territory to partitioning powers in 50 years up to 2,400,000 sq. miles, a disintegration more "wifely" than that which overtook the Roman, Greek, Byzantine & Egyptian powers. France, Britain, Germany & Portugal have also gorged on Chinese territory; all together they have taken from China an area four times as great as the British Isles, France & Germany combined.

Will history repeat again and the dismemberment of China lead as did the partitioning of Poland, to the unification of her peoples, the eventual rejuvenation of her empire?

96 A. D.—Emperor Domitian of Rome was assassinated. He had a presentment of his approaching end, sought to fight it off. He had all of the rooms in which he lived lined with polished stones that he might see all that went on behind him; made his guards guard him vigilantly by decreeing that all should die if he were killed; locked himself in when he slept; had his food tasted beforehand; never ventured out; saw all visitors one at a time and alone. A distinguished soldier, Claudius, gained access to him by declaring he had news of a plot against the emperor's life, stabbed him to death.

History repeats: On July 6, 1918, one Blum was admitted to the presence of the closely guarded German ambassador, Count Mirbach, in the new capital of the U. S. S. R., with news of an "allied plot" for Mirbach's assassination. When the count asked how the assassins proposed to act, Blumkin took a pistol from his pocket, replied "Like this" shot and killed the ambassador, escaped.

1867—Alfred Nobel, Swede, aged 34, nitroglycerine-maker, accidentally discovered how to mix a safe and easily manageable explosive—dynamite, when some nitro escaped from a cask into the siliceous sand of the packing. It & other explosives made him the vast fortune which he left to endow annual prizes for those making the most important discoveries in physics, chemistry, physiology, writing the best literature, accomplishing the most for peace.

Members of the compliance board of the Chamber of Commerce N. R. A. advisory committee today received the following message relative to price fixing:

The consumers' advisory board of the National Recovery Administration, at a meeting today, adopted as a policy opposition to general price fixing provisions, direct or indirect, in all codes, with the exception of a limited number of "natural resources" industries where cut-throat competition has led to public disaster.

To Review Prices.

In cases where price fixing is permitted for a trade or an industry generally, the board, as an outline of policy to guide the efforts of its special representatives in the framing of N. R. A. codes, urged that definite public responsibility for the reasonableness of the prices set be fixed upon the code authority, with provision for review of prices set by the N. R. A. administrator.

In addition to making many technical recommendations to its representatives for handling code problems, the board undertook to draw up a comprehensive plan for checking the reasonableness of price increases under the codes. The question of upholding standards of quality, which also are a determining factor in price setting, was held to be a major concern of the board.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES

TURNER BREAKS OWN AIR MARK; WINS BENDIX CUP

Nerves Never Waver

LOS ANGELES—Colonel Roscoe Turner flashed across the finish line here 11 hours, 30 minutes out of New York, breaking his own east-to-coast record for the running of the Bendix Trophy. Forty-eight thousand spectators were on hand to greet the plucky pilot whose healthy nerves had carried him to victory. For a second time the coveted trophy was for a Camel. Asked by a man if steady smoking of nerves, Turner—

"I WATCH MY NERVES as carefully as I do my plane," Colonel Turner says. "I smoke Camels for the sake of healthy nerves, and I enjoy them more because of their mildness and better taste. To me Camels are a much finer cigarette and I never have to give a thought to jangled nerves."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

COLONEL ROSCOE TURNER, in discussing healthy nerves and cigarettes, says: "Breaking air records is an exciting business—and a nerve-wracking one! I know because I have gone out after a whole flock of records—and managed to pick off quite a few. Like most pilots I smoke a lot—in fact, I enjoy smoking any time. But I watch my nerves as carefully as I do my plane. I smoke Camels for the sake of healthy nerves, and I enjoy them more because of their mildness and better taste. To me Camels are a much finer cigarette, and being a faithful Camel smoker, I never have to give a thought to jangled nerves."

Are you nervous? Irritable? Try Camels and get a fresh slant on your smoking. Being a milder cigarette, Camels are better for steady smoking. You will find that Camels never get on your nerves...never tire your taste.

The United States Treasury department has authorized the A. W. Miles E. Myers, federal construction engineer, was advised today.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Robert wrote Myers that "the change is absolutely essential so that a satisfactory appearing building, in conformity with the design, may result, as it was found that Pennsylvania sandstone cannot be used where ornamental work is required."

Myers said that shipments of Pennsylvania sandstone from Clearfield county would stop just as soon as the remaining pillar pieces have been delivered. The body of the building itself will be of sandstone.

Gala Festival To Be Discontinued

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 18.—Central Pennsylvania's gala festival day, noted far and wide, is not going to be held this year for the first time in four decades.

Known as Grand Army day, the celebration always drew crowds of 20,000 to 25,000 persons and was always featured by a sham battle, speeches and regimental reunions.

Two reasons combined to force the postponement, one was the fact that only about two score Civil war veterans are left in Blair county to stage the affair, with most of these unable to attend, and the other, hanging on the first, is that not sufficient money could be raised to purchase the essentials for the steaming bean soup and hardtack which was one of the day's features.

one railway passenger in this country lost his life in a train accident, and during 1931 only four such fatalities occurred. The number of passengers carried for each passenger fatality was 17 million in 1932 as compared with 15 million in 1931. 14 million in 1930 and 8 million in 1929. One of the greatest railroad achievements during the last decade has been the steady decrease in the number of casualties resulting from railway accidents. Last year's record was the best in history.

Advising that "the railroad should have taken to heart earlier lessons of the sort," the MORGANTOWN DOMINION-NEWS asserts: "Whether or not the Erie was under legal compulsion to avoid the use of wooden cars, its larger obligation to surround its passengers with all reasonable safeguards existed. The full force of public opinion, together with whatever legal remedies are available, should be brought to bear on those officials fully to realize the enormity of their offense in failing to fulfill that obligation."

Still Enrolling More Students At Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 18.—Although the 82nd college year opened officially on last Friday at Westminster college, a number of students were still being enrolled this morning, and there will be late registrations during the entire week.

The office of the registrar was unable to give out any official figures on enrollment late Saturday night due to the fact that the office was busy with the machinery of registration of students. It is known that there are 240 new students, and the number of upper-class students who have returned is higher than usual.

Classes started last Friday morning. The regular class schedule will be followed this week, and the college program will soon be running smoothly even for new students who must make a few days to adjust themselves to the program.

"There is a not of hope in the outlook which was lacking last year," she said, "and yet the Y. W. C. A. knows that, aside from this feeling that things are for the better, there are still many hundreds of girls out of work and out of school. To offset the needs of these girls are many professional people who are willing to help with their talents without charge and to fill in constructively their time a n d energy."

The general committee in charge of the program represents all departments of the association, Miss White stated.

Among the leaders who will take part are Mrs. Robert Eckles, chairman; Mrs. J. Glenn Berry, Mrs. Albert Fankhauser, Mrs. J. A. Byers, Miss Alice Sterling, Miss Alice Joyce, Mrs. Raymond Williams and Mrs. W. J. Caldwell.

There are to be four discussion groups from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. and again after the picnic supper. At 8:15 o'clock the whole group will meet together for a devotional service and group singing which Mrs. Caldwell will lead. One of the operettas for Camp East Brook will be repeated, reports of all discussion groups will be presented and recommendations for the coming year's program received.

This is one of the most important times during the year when the whole association feels that it is a real fellowship of women and young girls working together for a more abundant life.

School Nights Must Not Be Used For Love Making By Teachers

STRUTHERS, O., Sept. 18.—Struthers teachers who make whoopee this year will be asked for their resignations. Several are on probation at the present time.

H. S. Floyd, fiery superintendent of Struthers schools, made this announcement at the annual fall meeting of teachers. He told the teachers that "night club life is out for the Struthers teachers."

In dramatic fashion he raised his right hand.

"And by the eternal gods," he declared, "I lift my hand to heaven to see that the children get the break."

Here are the highspots of Superintendent Floyd's speech:

"A teacher's business is to teach school. A cat has nine lives. A teacher isn't a cat. She can't even have two lives, a day and night life."

"Taxpayers are sweating to get the money to run the schools and the teachers are supposed to come to school prepared to teach."

"Night clubs will get poor if they're going to run on the patronage of the Struthers teachers."

"Struthers teachers who have beaus and the men teachers who have girls must cut out these all-night kissathons on school nights. Save that for Friday and Saturday nights. Get your embraces over early and be prepared to teach next day when you come to school."

"A teacher who is dead for sleep or getting over a liquor jag isn't fit to handle children."

"My standards may not be your standards, but if the average teacher doesn't know what the present standard of public acceptance of a teacher's conduct is, then he or she hasn't learned the first letter in the teachers' professional alphabet."

Mr. Floyd said he had received complaints of the unprofessional attitude of some teachers. "We've got as fine a bunch of teachers as they have any place in the state," he said, "and we've got a few that have forgotten they're teachers. I'm willing to give them a chance to remember."

Superintendent Floyd's contract expires this year. As a parting shot he reminded the teachers that he will have the "say-so" in appointing the teachers next year.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

'Sparky' Barks His Last' Old Age Too Much For Him

"Sparky's dead!"

"Old Spark"—he was just a dog that many Seventh warders knew—became a fixture at the ward railroad depot some years ago and has since been Agent J. H. Hossler's daily companion wherever he happened to go. Phil Fisher owned him.

Coal black in color, "Sparky" usually rested either outside or inside the B. & O. depot and watched, nonchalantly, hundreds of travelers come and go. One of his daily jobs was to trail the steps of Agent Hossler as he walked out to meet the trains, and on Saturday morning he did that as on other days.

But when Agent Hossler was ready to leave for his lunch—a trip "Sparky" religiously made—it seemed that his legs were too weak to travel. The agent went for aid, but when he returned his 12-year-old pet was dead. Old age was believed responsible.

"Sparky" had been dubbed the depot's "red cap" because he was as faithful and prompt as anyone could be. And everyone knows that if there is a dog heaven, "Old Spark" will be forever deserving of the choicest of meat bones. For a good dog he was.

Oldtime Ward Man Ill At Pittsburgh

Seventh ward residents learned today of the serious illness of R. G. Gaspare, for 30 years a resident of the ward but of late a resident of Pittsburgh. He is in the Mercy hospital in that city.

Mr. Gaspare conducted a business on North Liberty street. He left to reside with a daughter in Pittsburgh following the sale of his property to the P. & L. E. as a part of its depot development project.

Fight Erie Conviction On "Unwritten Law"

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Attorney for James McClure, 29, of Erie, convicted of manslaughter for killing a youth who jurors had been told had been intimate with McClure's wife, Martha, indicated that McClure would appeal the verdict on the basis of the "unwritten law."

The verdict of guilty with a recommendation of mercy was returned late last night after one of the shortest trials in Erie County history. Jurors and spectators wept yesterday as Mrs. McClure testified that her husband had redecorated their house for her return with her newborn baby, whose paternity, she later told him, was a matter of doubt.

Louis Heisler, 18, was shot as he crossed a field near the Heisler home, three days after Mrs. McClure had confessed to having been intimate with him and with William Ruhl, 29, who, witnesses testified, narrowly escaped another bullet from McClure's gun.

McClure's confession to police admitted as evidence, said he intended to kill Heisler because the latter had "broken up" his family.

Margaret Grant, Lucille Maxwell and Mrs. Moser exhibited quilts made 125 years ago and the tiny stitches and accurate patchwork characteristic of that period were as beautiful today as when first made. Other quilts dated back 30 and 50 years and beautiful quilts made the past winter were shown.

An old chair dated 1820 was displayed by Mary Copper, teacher of grade one. A table made 150 years ago was exhibited by Elton Grant. The next regular monthly meeting of the P. T. A. will be held Thursday, October 12.

Blue Eagle Cause Of Wounding Two

Storekeeper Runs Amuck After Being Taunted About Lack Of NRA Sign

(International News Service) SCOTTDALE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Two men were in the hospital suffering bullet wounds and a third was in jail today, all because the youths of Scottsdale taunted Naum Achess, 40, Bulgarian storekeeper, for not displaying an NRA blue eagle.

Achess ran amuck late last night and emptied his pistol through the window of his store. The bullets felled Patrolman Don Baker and Carl Pritchard, the latter when he ran into the line of fire in an effort to rescue the wounded officer.

arrested Achess after blinding him with the glare of his flashlight. The prisoner was taken to Greensburg barracks of the state police when a crowd collected.

Achess is known here as a communist. Residents said boys had been ridiculing the storekeeper because he had not signed up under the NRA. They painted a green eagle on his window which he removed.

STATE MINERS HAVE NOT RETURNED TO WORK

Coal Holiday Is Continued In Full Force

Miners Await Signing Of Code By President, Expected Today

PICKET LINES FORMED TODAY

Reported Softening By Coal Companies On Anti-Union Policies

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 18.—Pennsylvania's bituminous coal "holiday" continued unabated today despite forecasts that President Roosevelt would sign the coal code before nightfall and despite indications that the H. C. Frick Coke company may abandon its traditional open-shop labor policy.

The holiday, an unofficial walk-out, has been in effect since last Wednesday when mines in the Connellsville coke area were paralyzed as miners after miner dropped his tools in protest against the delay in negotiating a code for the industry.

Picket Lines Formed. Picket lines were formed early this morning in an effort to continue the tie-up at practically every mine in the Connellsville region. Even union leaders at Pittsburgh admitted the strike probably could not be brought to an end before Wednesday.

While strike leaders were sounding the battle-cry of "no union recognition, no work," a statement by Thomas Moses, president of the Frick company, indicated a softening of the company's 40-year-old anti-union policy.

Moses said: "We expect to obey the law. We are not opposing the government. That never has been the policy of the Frick company and it is not its policy now. We are taking no antagonistic attitude."

Can Cooperate. "We do not intend to. Our attitude is one of helpfulness as soon as we can determine how we are affected and how we can cooperate. Our mines will be closed tomorrow and they probably will remain closed until we can determine just what is expected of us.

"Certainly our mines will not operate until we can work in harmony with our employees and with the communities where our mines are located and with ample protection for our employees as well as for our property. We are not going to disobey the law."

Moses indicated he had not yet received full clarification of the code agreed upon at Washington. In this connection he was asked point-blank concerning his interpretation of the recovery act's collective bargaining provisions.

He said: "We are not going to disobey the law. If this means the government expects under the NRA to compel us to recognize a labor union we assuredly will give it serious consideration before taking any positive action."

Asks For Probe Of Relief Methods

Council Hears Request At Session In City Hall This Morning

Carl Leathers requested city council when it met today in city hall to make a sweeping investigation of the administration of relief here. Director of finance Albert Hoyland informed Mr. Leathers that inasmuch as relief here is under the jurisdiction of the state he should make the appeal to the state.

When council convened a man giving the name of Fred Hammond, asked why the city discontinued improvement of Cascade boulevard.

Councilman Louis Genkinger said the state had ordered the work stopped.

Mayor Mayne said the city was using state money to do that work; meaning the relief was paid by the state.

Mr. Hammond then asked why the work was started.

The mayor replied "to get something for men to do."

He said that within the near future it will be a municipal project. A highway from the south side through to East Washington street was desired, the mayor stated and the men were put to work there so the project could be started.

Leathers said "I feel there is a menace in using unemployed labor for corporations."

He objected to men working at the Ray street quarry. He contended the city did not own it and the removal of the stone would create a ground value for the owner.

Councilman D. O. Davies asked Leathers: "Don't you think a man is entitled to something in exchange for the stone?" The stone is being used on Croton wall and at Gaston park.

Leathers charged that relief work was not being administered properly. Mayor Mayne told him that the city had nothing to do with the administration of relief excepting to furnish the labor.

He said that the mayor's relief fund was raised by subscription and the donors did not object. He said objections came only from persons who did not contribute or who occupied the 'sidelines'. He said it was open to investigation.

Councilman Hoyland pointed out to Mr. Leathers that inasmuch as the state is administering relief here, that Leathers had come to the wrong body for an investigation. He advised him to communicate with state authorities.

Mayor Mayne brought the discussion to an end with Leathers again asking that the city council conduct a sweeping investigation. Council took no action on the request.

City Cannot Remove Barn, White Declares

Council To Inquire Into Building Of Garage Without Permit

W. H. Kilbreath today appeared before city council which met in the municipal building relative to a barn in Milton street where the county, he charged, stores oil and paint. He termed it a fire hazard. He went before the body to find out what action had been taken relative to the petition which asked its removal.

Solicitor Robert White informed Mr. Kilbreath that there are two kinds of nuisances, private and public. In this case, White said, the city could not confiscate the property and advised Mr. Kilbreath to go to court if he desired the building removed.

Kilbreath next charged that a garage had been built at 419-421 County Line street for which no permit had been issued.

Kilbreath said that he had to take out permits if he desired to build and could not understand why someone else could build without one. Council ordered an investigation.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY PASSED ON SATURDAY

New Castle merchants today were warned to be on the watch for counterfeit money as a result of the visit of a phony money passer paid at a downtown service station on Saturday.

Nick Gardner, station proprietor, reported to police that a counterfeit $10 bill was given to him by someone during the course of the day's business. A bank detected its irregularities.

ELLWOOD DEFEATS UNION HIGH 19-0

Luxemburg Goes Over For Two Touchdowns; Tammaro Scores On Intercepted Pass

Benedict Eleven Makes Fine Impression In First Game At Lincoln Field

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 18.—Presenting a diversified attack the Ellwood City High eleven defeated Union Township High 19-0 Saturday afternoon at Lincoln Field in a hard fought football contest.

Milton Luxemburg, star fullback crashed the line for the first two touchdowns in the second and third stanzas and Tammaro, second string end intercepted a Union pass and ran 40 yards for the third score in the final chapter. "Wishy" Franus, versatile half back played kicked the extra point.

Ellwood City's new grid eleven made a favorable impression before a turnout of about 5000 fans Saturday at Lincoln Field. The ability of the forward wall exceeded expectations as it crashed through time after time to throw the Union township backs for losses. The visitors were compelled to resort to the aerial game to make their gains. They were successful in this department, completing 10 out of 16 flings. The locals also did well when they completed 5 out of 6 and intercepted three passes for big gains. With a little more polishing in various spots New Castle high, the next opponent for the locals, may experience a little difficulty.

Through a series of short passes the visitors were able to make six first downs, one less than the Benedict eleven. The blue and white also outplayed the Boyd men from scrimmage. The locals presented a well balanced team that could pass, punt, and run the ball. They have three capable pass receivers in Bettoni, Jeannette and Beane.

For awhile it appeared that the blue and white was going to score soon after the opening whistle. Franus had kicked off to Monica who received the piskin on his own 20 yard line and advanced it to 25. When three running plays failed to gain the desired ten yards, Union Township attempted to punt. Pishonier, Ellwood center, broke thru and blocked it and regained the ball.

On Union's own 30. In two plays Luxemburg made a first down. Three more plays failed to gain enough yardage, so Franus passed to the colored boy, Beane, for eight yards, just short of less than a yard for a first down. There was no serious scoring threat then until the second stanza.

Ellwood started their touchdown drive when Bunny received Monica's punt on his own 45 and ran it back to Union's 45. From here on a series of runnings plays by Luxemburg, Franus and Beane. Luxemburg carried the ball over the sixteen yard line on a series of line plunges. Franus missed the extra point from placement. Following this the visitors resorted to a successful aerial game which was cut short by the first half whistle.

The second score came from Boczar's pass intended for right end Wimer who was intercepted by Franus on the Ellwood 45 who advanced it to the Union 27 before stopped. An offensive drive with passes and running plays just fell short of the goal line. Union punted from behind its own goal line. The ball was downed by Ellwood on their opponent's 32 yard line. Bunny failed to gain on the first down. On the second Franus passed to Beane for 28 yards. Luxemburg bucked the ball over in four tries. Union made a fine goal stand here, checking the fine local fullback twice from the one yard line.

Ellwood's final score came soon after the opening of the fourth chapter. The visitors had resorted to the air again. Todd had attempted to pass to Morrison. Tammaro, Ellwood second string left end stepped in, intercepted the pass on his own 40 yard line and raced the remaining distance for the score having practically all of his teammates behind him for interference. The visitors had resorted to the air again. Todd had attempted to pass to Morrison. Tammaro, Ellwood second string left end stepped in, intercepted the pass on his own 40 yard line and raced the remaining distance for the score having practically all of his teammates behind him for interference.

Jeannette, Bettoni, Tammaro, Loccasiano, Manzo, Pishonier, and Steckman played a fine game in the line for the locals. Luxemburg thrilled the fans with his line plunging. Franus and Beane proved to be a good passing combination. Bunny should prove a capable field general with a little more experience.

Outstanding for Union were Captain Georgacz, Kirker, Schass, Wimer in the line and Monica and Morrison in the backfield.

Coch Benedict began a serious program of training this afternoon for what is looked at as the most important game of the season as far as the local sports followers or players are concerned. The blue and white is planning to give New Castle a real battle on its hands next Friday night at Taggart Stadium under the flood lights.

Council To Apply For Federal Loan For Improvements

New City Building, Swimming Pool, Storm Sewers Are City Projects

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 18.—Official application for a federal loan will be made soon by the borough of Ellwood City. It was decided at a special meeting of council in the city building.

The members thoroughly discussed the situation and felt that they had much hope of obtaining 30 per cent of the cost of a big city project, which is in keeping with the big building program of the federal government.

If the building and improvement program mapped out by council is carried out the city will have a new city building which will not only house the borough offices, police department, but the fire department as well a swimming pool in Ewing Park, and two or three storm sewers about the city to relieve any flooding conditions. The estimated cost of this entire program is $191,000. The motion of Councilman M. A. Riley that an application be made for the loan was passed by council.

The program also includes an installation of a police signal system. Council went on record at this time as being in favor of building a new court house and backing the burgess and chief of police in a damage suit for an alleged false arrest by an East Liverpool photographer.

Lindberghs May Fly To Russia

Lindberghs Visit Home Of Father In Sweden And Obtain Relics Of Ancestors

RUSSIAN FLIGHT PLANS LEAK OUT

(International News Service)

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 18.—Moved by a visit to the home of his ancestors, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today went forward with plans which may culminate in a flight to Moscow to gather data on commercial aviation there.

It was learned that Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh are planning to make the flight as an expansion of their survey work in North Atlantic skyways which brought them by stages across the ocean by plane.

Last night the Colonel and his wife visited Gaardens in Skase, birthplace of the aviator's father. They flew from Stockholm, taking precautions to keep the trip secret.

Hearty Reception. Despite this, the townspeople gave them a hearty reception, and the fliers were escorted to an old farm where Lindbergh's grandfather once lived.

Anton Anderson, whom the Lindberghs also visited, gave the American aviator a pair of spectacles which the latter's grandfather had presented to Anderson.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh also drove to Borby, to visit his nearest relative in Sweden, Bertie Svensson, a cousin of the aviator who has a small shop there. She was asleep when they arrived, so the Lindberghs spent the night at the Borby Inn and visited her today.

News of the proposed Russian flight came to light after Lindbergh visited the Soviet legation here to obtain a Soviet passport.

Keystone State Shows Employment Increase

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—Pennsylvania has apparently joined that movement which Secretary of Labor Perkins hopes will prove the beginning of an upward spiral in consumer purchasing power.

Releasing national figures showing an improvement in employment in payrolls last month, Miss Perkins especially stressed the fact that the percentage increase in payroll totals had been greater than the percentage climb in employment. She said this was especially significant. She declared she hoped this represented "the beginning of an upward spiral in consumer purchasing power."

Pennsylvania was one of the states in which payroll gain was greater than employment upturn in August. Employment within 4986 representative industrial establishments of the state increased seven percent in August compared with July. Payrolls of the same establishments, on the other hand, zoomed upward 15 per cent. Thus the state is put in a position of contributing to the increase in consumer purchasing power which Miss Perkins regards so hopefully.

Ohio likewise has seemingly joined this recovery movement. During August, employment in the state was expanded by 6.4 per cent where as payroll totals mounted 9.9 per cent. Employment increases were greater in only twelve states than in Pennsylvania. Only five states reported greater increases in payrolls than did the Keystone State.

Place Guard Over Lamson

California Man Is Convicted Of Murder Of His Wife

DEATH SENTENCE TO BE PRONOUNCED

DAVID A. LAMSON

(International News Service)
SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 18.—A special "suicide guard" of deputy sheriffs today was established over David A. Lamson.

Sheriff William J. Emig made the drastic move following a report from Lamson's cellmate that the handsome Stanford University press executive, facing death on the gallows for the murder of his wife, was suffering from "fits of deep despondency."

"We'll take no chances with this prisoner now" the sheriff said. "We want to deliver him safely to San Quentin prison."

A relay of deputies then was counted off to watch Lamson "closely night and day."

However, there was no indications from the prisoner himself that he contemplated self destruction. He smiled slightly, he had "slept well," and then reiterated his astounding declaration that he would go to prison for life.

To Be Sentenced
The death sentence is scheduled to be pronounced upon him tomorrow by superior judge Robt. R. Syer in accordance with the verdict brought in Saturday night.

A jury of seven men and five women, after eight hours of deliberating the evidence presented in a four weeks trial returned a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree."

Because they did not impose a life sentence, it is mandatory upon the court to order Lamson "hanged by the neck until dead."

Conviction was obtained upon the contention by the state that the 31-year old defendant, a former Stanford dramatic and journalistic favorite, had beaten his pretty young wife, Allene Thorpe Lamson, to death in their campus bungalow because of an infatuation with a blonde divorcee in Sacramento, Cal.

Knights Templar At Grove City On Sunday Evening

A considerable number of the members of Lawrence Commandery No. 62 Knights Templar and other members of the Masonic bodies of this city and their ladies were in attendance Sunday evening at the service held in the First Presbyterian church of Grove City under the auspices of the Knights Templar of District No. 8. The service was preceded by a parade of several hundred Knights Templar in uniform headed by the Grove City High School band from the armory to the church. Other Masons and the ladies accompanied the Knights Templar.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. C. H. Williamson, pastor of the church and was on the National Recovery Act, with a religious back ground. The local group was in charge of Eminent Sir C. W. Herman, head of Lawrence Commandery. Notable guests of the event were Captain General Eminent Sir Harry E. Fabel of Meadville, Division Commander Eminent Sir James A. Evans of Erie, Division Commander Eminent Sir J. G. C. Cole of Franklin, and Division Commander Eminent Sir Paul M. Moore of Alliquippa.

Need More Ballots In Some Precincts

County Commissioners Order A Larger Supply Owing To Heavy Registration

Owing to the fact that registration on Saturday exceeded expectations, the county commissioners had to order additional ballots printed this morning for a number of districts throughout the city. Commissioners expected to begin the distribution of ballots to the city precincts this morning, but the work was held up until the additional ballots could be printed.

Work of distributing the ballots, pool books and supplies for holding the primary was begun this afternoon. Commissioners expect to cover all districts in the city during the afternoon and evening. Additional booths and chairs, where needed, were distributed last week.

Ballots for the country districts are being secured by the judges of election, many of them going last week.

Make Change In Conference Districts

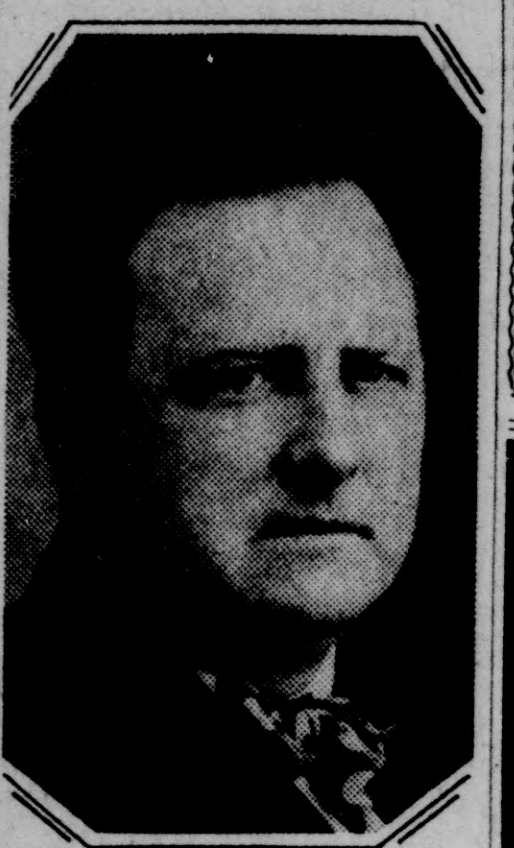

At the close of the Erie conference of the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday night in Meadville, Bishop Leonard announced a change in the names of several districts. Among them is the New Castle district, which in the future will be known as the Grove City district. The old Clarion district is now known as the Brookville district. The change is a matter of centralizing the residence of the district superintendents and in the future the district superintendent for this district must reside in Grove City. For the present the superintendents need not change their place of residence, but their successors will.

A Producer Not A Promiser

Others may PROMISE tax reduction. STAN TRESER has had a very definite part in actually OBTAINING tax reductions. During the four years I have served you as Councilman, taxes have been cut from 13 mills to 10½ mills or a 21% REDUCTION. My part in this reduction is best shown by a comparison of the amount spent in the operation of my department when I took office and the amount spent in 1932, the last year for which complete figures are available. In 1930, the amount spent in the Street Department was $50,442, while last year $27,767 was used, or a REDUCTION of 45%. The present year will show an even greater economy of operation.

Shouldn't these figures mean a lot to those earnestly and conscientiously interested in SANE TAX REDUCTION?

To my many friends who supported me four years ago, I believe I have kept faith with you, and hope that I may have your continued support. To the many new friends I trust I have made, I offer these figures as evidence of my capability in handling your affairs.

To all who believe that efficiency and economy in public office should be rewarded, I confidently submit my candidacy, and I thank you all.

NIGHT WATCHMAN ASKS ABOUT NRA

(International News Service)
DENVER, Sept. 18.—United States District Attorney Thomas J. Morrissey admitted he was stumped, and advised his questioner to write to Washington, D. C., for the information desired. The question put to Morrissey by a recently-coded nightwatchman was: "Does a night watchman placed on a 40-hour week violate the NRA code if he sleeps overtime?"

RATTLESNAKE MAKES POOR BEDEFELLOW

(International News Service)
PUEBLO, Colo., Sept. 18.—As pets, rattlesnakes do not make satisfactory bedfellows. Walter Belcher, 15, took his pet rattler to bed with him, shut up in a tin can. During the night the top came off the can and the snake bit Belcher. He was taken to a hospital in serious condition.

Trapped Miners Tell Of Harrowing Rescue

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Four mine workers who walked safely into the arms of loved ones when every vestige of hope for them had disappeared today recounted tales of their harrowing experience—of "waiting for death."
Of the six who were trapped in the flooded Truesdale mine of the Glen Alden Coal Company, one was taken out dead and another's life is despaired of by fellow workers.
The men who saved themselves when human aid could not reach them are Andrew Levandowski, 46, a laborer, Casimir Staggera, 40, a miner, Albert Tucker, 36, helper, and Andrew Matkiewicz, 48, miner.
Raphael Sweney, 31, became separated from the four. They clung to a ledge while he endeavored to find a way out. John Wasilewski, 50, a miner, of Hanover township, was removed dead from the mine.

The four men who waded, swam and dug their way out of a dungeon of despair during a 14-hour entombment were still nervous today from the effects of their experience. They told of working their way to the highest apparent spot in the mine and of waiting while the water rose, almost paralyzing them with a threat of death.
As Matkiewicz, in broken English, described it, they were "waiting for die." They were huddled together on the ledge, conserving energy, waiting, hoping.
They had with them was not eaten. Eating never occurred to them. When the waters started to subside, they resumed their groping. The first sign of light at the shaft was their greatest thrill.

Pennsylvania Has 34,020 Miles In Highway System

Pennsylvania has 34,020 miles of highways in its state highway system, of which 10,976 are of a low-type surfacing such as topsoil and gravel and 8,092 miles are of a high-type surface such as macadam or concrete.
This statement was made today by R. W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the A. A. A., and is based on figures just received from Washington.
"For the country as a whole," he said, "there are 358,210 miles of roads in the state highway system, of which 156,325 are of low-type surfacing and 109,735 of high-type surfacing."
"There were 29,577 miles of state highways completed in 1932, with low-type surfacing such as sand, clay, gravel and waterbound macadam of 19,568 miles and high-type surfacing on 10,009 miles. The total mileage surfaced was almost equal to the new mileage added to the state systems during the year."

The A. A. A. Club executive declared that road building during the current year will be greatly stimulated by the large amount of federal funds available for public works and officials in Washington are doing everything possible to speed-up work on new projects.
"To date," he continued, "program maps for highway work to be done under the National Industrial Recovery Act has been submitted by highway authorities of twenty-two states and tentatively approved."

New Mexico And Idaho Will Vote

Wets Claim Majorities In Both Western States In Vote On Repeal Tuesday

(International News Service)
BOISE, Ida., Sept. 18.—Idaho voters prepared to go to the polls tomorrow on the national repeal issue. Conservative wets predicted a 3 to 2 majority and estimates ranged as high as 2 to 1.
Public statements were made that every town over 5,000 population would go overwhelmingly for repeal and only in the exclusively rural and some Mormon communities of the southwest would dry sentiment prevail.
New Mexico to Vote
Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 18.—New Mexico was prepared to go to the polls tomorrow and express a decided preference for repeal of the 18th amendment.
The vote generally anticipated will give repeal a majority of about two to one, although some repealists predict a three-to-one majority. Governor Arthur Seligman expressed opinion that every county in the state would favor repeal.
New Mexico went dry by a two-to-one majority in 1917.

Honor Retiring Post Office Men

Office Employees, Families Attend Outing At Cascade Saturday

FLEMING, MATTHEWS, WILLIAMS TO LEAVE

Tribute to the faithfulness and loyalty of three veteran New Castle postoffice employees—R. Archie Fleming, a clerk; Walker C. H. Matthews, a rural letter carrier, and Frank E. Williams, another clerk—was paid when a host of 175 postoffice employees and officials and their families gathered for a picnic outing at Cascade park on Saturday night.
Outing Is Surprise.
The surprise tribute came as a testimonial gesture on the eve of the three veterans' retirement from the postal service. On October 1 they will join Uncle Sam's pension roll.
Not a hint had been given of the nature of the outdoor party, and Mr. Fleming and Mr. Matthews, who received valuable gifts from their fellow workers, found it a bit difficult to express their sincere gratitude. Mr. Williams was unable to share the program because he is ill in a hospital in Grove City.
Clare M. Lutz, a clerk at the office directed the testimonial affair with the able assistance of a joint committee of clerks and city and rural postmen.
Featuring the festivities were the afternoon sports program for children of the employees and the dinner which followed. Assistant Postmaster J. G. Leslie gave the invocation. A speaking period came after the dinner.
Voicing the deep regard in which the entire postoffice staff holds the three men who leave them at the close of this month, Richard A. Steen, veteran staff member, described the presentation of gifts as "an act symbolic of the friendship we hold for you." Mr. Steen was introduced by Chairman Lutz.
A set of golf clubs was handed to Mr. Fleming and a fine traveling bag was given to Mr. Matthews, while a Seth Thomas clock was displayed as the gift which would be sent to Mr. Williams.
Fleming's Record Longest.
Mr. Fleming's service record is the longest of the three, his work having begun 39 years ago. Mr. Matthews has been in the service 30 years and Mr. Williams 23 years.
Assisting Chairman Lutz was the following joint committee: Ernest Clare, Thomas C. Davis, W. E. Clark, Carl Weide and John R. Wilson, city carriers; Albert Johnson, Wylie Patton and Bert Davidson, rural carriers; and George Owens, Ira A. Ringer, Clyde Stevens and William McVoy, clerks. Handling the sports were Thornton Allen, Albert Klingensmith and Clarence Reiber.
Special guests included former Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford, former Superintendent of Mails Frank Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Reno, Mr. and Mrs. George Davies of this city and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Collins, Ellwood City.
In the afternoon sporting events the following children of the employees won prizes: Jimmie Wilson, May Ruth Wilson, Dick Klingensmith, Louise Fay, "Bud" Barr, Emma Mae McCandless, Eddie Bollard, Jr., Robert Lutz, Dorothy Wilson, Eugene Lutz, Clyde Collins and Donald Reiber.

Illegal To Sell Beer On Tuesday

Law Reads No Beer Shall Be Sold Or Furnished On Municipal Or Election Day

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—Tomorrow might be yesterday as far as beer sellers are concerned in Allegheny county. District Attorney Andrew T. Park said today.
The reason is that tomorrow is primary day and yesterday was Sunday.
Park pointed out that the state beer act reads:
"It shall be unlawful for any person to sell or furnish beer on the day of any municipal or general election."
There is a similar sentence concerning Sunday sales.
Complaints of violations will be investigated by county detectives immediately. Park added, despite the occupation of most of the officers at the polls.

Man Suicides By Leaping In River

(International News Service)
MONESSEN, Pa., Sept. 18.—After telling friends he was "going to the old country," Samuel Hadish, 48, leaped to his death from the Charlevoix-Monessen bridge into the Monongahela river. His body was recovered today by employees of lock No. 4.
Hadish was unmarried. No reason was given for the act.

Mines Operating At Punxsutawney

(International News Service)
PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Sept. 18.—Despite the miners' work holiday still gripping the southwestern Pennsylvania bituminous coal field, miners and mines continued to work without interruption today.

Unanimous approval of the NRA was voiced at a mass meeting of 1,000 leaders, representing more than 10,000 mine workers, at Sykesville yesterday.
Delegates to the meeting voted 100 per cent to stand by the president and the NRA administrator in their efforts to negotiate a fair competitive code and a wage agreement for the industry.
